OSBORNE SAMUEL

MODERN AND CONTEMPORARY ART

The childhood home of Queen Elizabeth I, Hatfield House is situated 20 miles from London in glorious Hertfordshire countryside. The gardens at Hatfield provide a harmonious but constantly changing setting for this display of Henry Moore's larger works.

Suzanne Eustace, Assistant Curator at The Henry Moore Foundation, gives a lively and informative introduction to Moore's work in general and to the Moore at Hatfield exhibition pieces in particular. Fully illustrated in colour, including previously unseen material from The Henry Moore Foundation archive and specially commissioned photographs of the installation of Moore's works at Hatfield, this book is a fascinating record of an exhibition of one of Britain's most important artists of the twentieth century.
